REVIEWS INDEX

THE RATINGS

When a game is reviewed, we give ratings for five different criteria:

GRAPHICS

Does the game look good? Is the scrolling smooth? Are the sprites flickery? Is the animation realistic? This mark covers all visual aspects of the game.

SOUND

Sound and music that enhance a game are given high marks. The sound rating is low if the soundtrack or effects are inappropriate.

VALUE

Here, we take into consideration the price of the game, the amount of entertainment it offers and the quality of the packaging. In other words - is it worth the money.

PLAYABILITY

This tells you how addictive and enjoyable the game is the higher the rating is, the more playable the game is.

OVERALL

The most important rating of all. This is what we think of the game as a whole, taking into consideration all the other ratings. In short, how good the game really is.

THE MARKS

854

A C+VG HIT! An outstanding game that shouldn't be missed.

70-85

A very good game that missed out on a higher accolade due to minor discrepancies. Should definitely be tried, though.

55-69

Average to fairly good. Could still appeal to fans of the genre.

40-55

Below average to average.
Generally a disappointment.

15-39

Generally a poor game that mightn't even appeal to the most ardent fans.

14-

Ugh! Binary sewage that's guaranteed to make your computer throw up.

AM'N'CH

Amstrad recently took a group of journalists to Paris to announce the launch of three new machines - the GX4000 console (which takes ROM cards only and has 64k memory), the CPC 464 Plus (which features a built-in cassette deck and has 64k memory) and the CPC 6128 Plus (which has a 3-inch disk drive and 128k of memory). Julian Rignall was there...

LOOKS GOOD

The three new machines all feature the same internal architecture, which is based around the old Amstrad computer boards. But they've been brought up to date with the addition of a 2k custom chip which gives super-smooth hardware scrolling capabilities, hardware sprites (up to 16) and, most importantly, lets you display 32 colours on-screen at the same time from a palette of 4096 - which is the same as an Amiga.

SOUNDS GHASTLY

Annoyingly, the sound is the same as the old Amstrad and Spectrum computers, but is now produced in stereo via a new sound driver chip. It's a crying shame that a better sound chip wasn't introduced, as this would have given the machines a real audio boost. As it stands, the sound chip is very limited, and the sort of noises it produces are tinny, harsh and grating.

▼ Burnin' Rubber is a Wec Le Mans type ROM cartridge that comes free with all machines.

FREE GAME

All machines come with a free ROM cartridge called Burnin' Rubber, a colourful WEC Le Mans style game that was developed by Ocean especially for the new Amstrads. The 464 Plus also has BASIC on the ROM cartridge. and the 6128 Plus also comes with

PLAY THE OLDIES

A big bonus is that the 464 Plus and the 6128 Plus all run existing Amstrad software, giving them an immediate huge software library. New software is currently being developed by top software houses to make use of the machines' new hardware, some of the more notable titles being Robocop II. Shadow Warriors, Operation Thunderbolt, Plotting, Special Criminal Investigation, Pang, Navy Seals, Toki and Battle Command. As well as Ocean, US Gold, Domark, Loriciels, and Titus are amongst many firms developing software for the new machines. All games will be released on ROM cartridge for the GX4000 console, as well as tape and disk formats.

THE VERDICT

The two new computers are exciting machines, with tremendous graphics capabilities - but they are pricey. The 464 Plus is £229.00 with black and white monitor and £329.00 with colour monitor, and the 6128 Plus is £329.00 with mono monitor and is a hefty £429.00 with colour monitor. Black and white monitors are fine if you want to use the machine for doing things other than playing games, but really you do need to buy a colour monitor for enjoyable gaming - and that puts them up with the cost of an ST or Amiga (admittedly without monitor, but the 16 bit machines do have TV modulators - is the monitor really that important?)

The fact that they're able to run existing Amstrad software and take ROM cartridges as well as running their own software is good, and though the machines are pricey, they're easily the best 8 bit computers around, capable in some cases of matching and even beating the specifications of the ST - which can't be bad at all!

The GX4000 is a different story, price-wise. It's a neat-looking and technically impressive console that has an awful lot of potential at the very low price of £99.00. The main criticism is that the joypads are pretty naff (finger cramp sets in very quickly), but at least the joystick sockets are standard, so you can plug in your favourite stick for long-term, ache-free gaming! Other than that, the GX4000 is a graphically superb console, is technically far better than the Nintendo and Sega Master System and has a very exciting line-up of games coming in the not-too-distant future. It's definitely well worth checking out if you're after a decent console for Christmas.

Limited O

▲ The GX4000 console is a neat looking machine shame about the control pads, though!

COWA BUNGA! MIRRORSOFT GET TURTLES LICENCE!

After a period of confusion as to who would be the lucky ones, Mirrorsoft have announced that indeed it is they who have grabbed the license to Teenage Mutant Hero Turtles.

Mirrorsoft's Managing Director,
Peter Bilotta, was extremely enthusiastic about the license, and stated that "without doubt, this is set to be the license of 1990, and we intend to make it the most successful computer program in Europe this year." Strong words, perhaps, but considering the sheer magnitude of the Turtles, they could have a ring of truth to them.

TMHT will be released on the Imageworks label for the Amiga, ST, C64, Amstrad, Spectrum and PC, but definite dates and prices have yet to be fixed. We'll let you know as soon as

CONSOLE BOOK III COMING SOON

The next installment of the fabulous Complete Guide to Consoles is out at the end of this month and promises to be even better than the last book! It'll feature incredible exclusive Sega, Megadrive, PC Engine and Nintendo reviews, an unbelievably mega tips section, heaps and heaps of competitions and tons of other stuff!

Keep a look out for it - it's going to sell fast!

SEGA GO FOR GOLD

After the brilliant Gauntlet and totally amazing Impossible Mission, US Gold are shifting into high gear with four major conversions for the Sega Master System.

Indiana Jones III and Paperboy are first up, and are released in October - check out the exclusive reviews in the Complete Guide to Consoles Book III at the end of August - and will be followed by the Advanced Dungeons and Dragons action game, Heroes of the Lance, along with that classic golf simulation, Leaderboard. We'll keep you posted...

METAL MUTHAS

If you're into big, powerful, human-controlled fighting machines with loads of weapons, Infogrammes' forthcoming release, Metal Masters should be the one for you.

It lets you build a mechanoid mangler from scratch, and then take part in combat or sporting events in order to make as much money as possible. The further you progress, the more wonga you make, so you can buy even more powerful weapons to beat seven bells out of new opponents.

All of this sounds like great fun to us, but you'll have to wait until November to see what it's really like. Stay tuned to this channel, and don't touch that dial.

MEGADRIVE - OFFICIAL AT LAST

At long last, Sega have announced the launch of the official UK Megadrive - September is when it'll first appear in high street shops.

It'll cost £189.99 and comes with a copy of Altered Beast. A range of 22 games will be released for the machine at the same time, ranging in price from £29.99 for old games like Space Harrier II and Super Thunderblade to £39.99 for big games like Ghouls 'n' Ghosts and Revenge of Shinobi (also known as Super Shinobi).

ELITE GET THE GREMLINS

Elite, having been quiet for some considerable time, are now leaping back into the spotlight by grabbing the license for Gremlins II - The New Batch. The film is again centered around Billy, Kate and that annoyingly cute Mogwai, as Clamp Plaza is overrun by rapidly reproducing Gremlins! The game is being written by Toposoft, the people responsible for US Gold's Pepsi Mad Mix Game.

There's a heck of a lot of scope there, so let's hope that Elite's re-entry into the market is one to be cheered. Keep your eyes on the previews section over the coming months for further news.

SIDEWAYS TO THE FUTURE

Courtesy of Imageworks, Jaz, our esteemed Ed, was invited to the Royal Premiere of Back to the Future III last month (the lucky swine), in the presence of HRH The Princess of Wales.

As you can see, this involved our Jazza (who's more accustomed to jeans and T-shirts) having to doll himself up in a dinner jacket and bow tie, which resulted in howls of hysterical laughter from around the C+VG office well, check out the picture yourselves!

The reason for all this fandango is to promote the fact that Imageworks are soon to begin work on the Back to the Future III computer game, which is due for release in spring. We'll bring you a report on the game as soon as it's ready.

ACTIVISION GRAB IREM AND GET DIZZY

Coming soon to your computer screens via the auspices of Activision are two super Irem shoot 'em ups, R-Type II and Dragon Breed.

The former is the sequel to R-Type (obviously), one of the best blasters of all time, and the latter puts you on the back of a fire-breathing dragon as you battle unearthly forces.

Also coming soon from Activision is Spindizzy II, the ST and Amiga versions of the stunning 8 bit classic from three years back - look for reviews in the next few issues.

ST

▲ Game over, and your ship is just flaming wreckage.

ands up, who remembers Defender? Flying over horizontally scrolling landscapes, blasting aliens and protecting the humans? Ah, nostalgia's not what it used to be...

Thing is, aliens aren't the problem, this time. It's anarchists. Disorder and chaos have taken over, and it's down to you to put a stop to all of this. Starting off with a small but effective laser, you've got to fly around and, yep, blast 'em out of the skies!

The anarchists have taken many forms, such as Darters (which zip all over the screen), Bouncers, Clusters and Blisters. These all perform various nefarious tasks, and do their absolute utmost to do you in. Contact with an anarchist or missile results in depleting your energy shield. Once the shield is gone, that's your lot.

By collecting pods and coins left behind by recently-deceased troublemakers, you can build up a pretty formidable armoury, containing such delights as devastators (smart bombs), cannon outriders or 'nackem power', ters, and you've got to wipe out all the anarchists in the level before the canisters are destroyed. If all the canisters are wiped out, you get thrown into hyperspace and b-i-i-i-g trouble....

UPDATE

Start saving your quids, Amiga owners. July sees the release of your version of Anarchy, which will also retail at £19.99.

ST £19.99

Any game that attempts to be as addictive as Defender has to be damned good, and I'm happy to say that Anarchy definitely achieves that, and then some. The graphical frills start right from booting up, and then the sound chip kicks in with a great heavy thumping rock track (just the thing to get the adrenalin going). Once into the game, you see exactly how much work has gone into this product. The graphics are small, but unbelievably fast, with ultra-fast totally smooth parallax scrolling. After the first few plays, it may seem a bit over-difficult, but after a few more tries, you find it's that little bit easier to play, and that much more addictive. The sheer quantity of animated stuff on screen at once is simply astounding, and coupled with the amount of aliens, bullets and other stuff, it's enough to make the mouth water. To be totally frank this is Defender to the max. Miss this one, and regret it forever.

Find out its limits. Look in the mirror.

Introducing the powerful new Atari 1040 STE. With such an awesome machine, we're convinced the only limits you'll come across are your own.

Based on the incredibly successful 1040 STFM, the 1040 STE itself goes beyond the limits of its predecessor.

The 'E', by the way, stands for 'Enhanced'. But once you've discovered its amazing array of features, you may consider 'Enhanced' to be the understatement of the decade.

Perhaps the most outstanding feature of the 1040 STE is its graphics. Its palette contains over 4000 colours (all right, 4096 to be exact).

To ensure precise and realistic images, the STE features 'hardware scrolling', enabling smooth scrolling in any direction and split-screen effects. And, with the SM124 monitor, you'll get razor sharp black-out-of-white text that's as clear as the type on this page.

To complete the picture, it is able to 'phase-lock' its video output to an external video source, permitting direct linking to a Genlocking device.

The 1040 won't just have y swivelling in their sockets. Your earc also take a pounding from the 8-bit Po sound.

The new PCM (Pulse Coded Mo sound system's two chips allow the 1040 STE to replay high-quality sampled sounds, in stereo, without burdening the CPU. Or, for even more of an earblasting, just add a couple of RCA output jacks and power the sounds through your own stereo.

Of course we mustn't forget memory. One megabyte of RAM comes as standard. If that's not enough, the 1040 STE provides four SIMM sockets. Simply plug in some SIMM (Single Inline Memory Module) boards and boost the RAM up to four megabytes.

To help you handle all this technology, we've added even more: a Blitter chip, capable of shifting data at high speeds independent of the CPU, and a new version of TOS.

The TOS 1.6 (operating system) has an enhanced file selector with drive-change buttons, improved desktop with file move, MS-DOS compatible disk formatting, and better application installation and auto-booting facilities.

As you'd expect, there's a huge range of peripherals including hard disks, floppy disks, laser printers, colour monitors and even Megafile 44, Atari's unique 44-megabyte removable hard disk.

As well as all this hardware, there are hundreds of software programmes for the 1040 STE - we're even throwing in the ST-Series Productivity and Leisure bundles free.

> The Productivity bundle features a database, spreadsheet, word processor and business graphics package, and there's S.T.A.C., FirST BASIC, Hyperpaint and Prince in the Leisure bundle.

ought to be lazing in the sun rather than reading your letters. Still, I've got a job to do - so here I am. The YOB! If you've got anything remotely interesting to say, send your letterS to: YOB'S MAILBAG, C+VG, PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRINGDON LANE. LONDON, EC1R 3AU.

CONSOLE QUESTION CORNER

Yo YOB,

I'm a pretty trendy, happenin' kinda guy, and have recently upgraded from my old C64 to a Megadrive. But before you have a fit and go on to rip up my letter into tiny particles and stomp them into the dust with your five-inch Doc Martens (because you're fed up with letters about grey imports) (Harumph! Too right -YOB), I just want to ask a few questions:

1) What's Phantasy Star II like? It sounds dead good.

2) When the keyboard for the Megadrive finally arrives, will it mean that we will have complex flight sims and strategy games? How much will it cost? When will it arrive?

3) Will the modem gamelink be expensive?

4) What happened to Super Monaco Grand Prix?

5) When the planned disk drive comes out, will we be able to buy disk games and use the console as a computer?

6) How much will the converter to run British games

I'll have to stop there or my pen'll melt (they don't call me the Pen Demon for nothing)! Alexander Mackenzie, Gleneagles, Perthshire YOB: Gorblimey, as they say round our way! You're an inquisitive bleeder and no mistake. 1) Phantasy Star II is dead good, but it's pricey and for hardened role-players only, I reckon. 2) There aren't many de-into some type of programmable computer. Microprose are putting some Megadrive flight sims together, but I doubt whether they will rely heavily on the use of the keyboard. 3) Well, you know... Expensive is a relative term, isn't it? 4) Super Monaco GP was delayed for circumstances beyond anyone's control, but it's now scheduled for Japanese release in September. 5) I don't know about disk games as such. but no doubt the drive will come in handy if you're using the Megadrive with the keyboard (ie as a computer). 6) No-one has released any details on a British game convertor, but you can bet everyone will be selling them once the Megadrive comes out over

LYNX FINX

Dear YOB.

I own a Lynx, and was wondering if I could ask you a couple of questions.

1) When will Hard Drivin', STUN Runner, Gauntlet III and Cyberball be available?

2) What other games will they be producing in the future?

Mark Owens, Wrexham, Clwvd

YOB: Gauntlet III's already out you dozy git. As for the rest, expect them nearer Christmas, along with several other arcade conversions, which for the moment will remain nameless. Watch this space.

TIPS TIPS Dear YOB,

With reference to your mags' tips showing "Final Fight" in cartoon form, I thought I should voice my opinion. Good idea, shame about the implementation. The tips are far too hard - there are a lot of moves, and these tips didn't help find them. Patterns of the joystick and buttons with a picture of what would happen would have been good, and tips on what to do in common situations would have helped.

I recently bought a mag which had details of the PC Engine handheld being launched in the US - does this mean that importers will start. well, importing? And at what price?

And finally, my idea for a game is "ACE Magazine Simulator". You play an issue of ACE searching for someone to buy it (chortle). Kevin Howard, Mess A2H, HMS Collingwood, Fareham, YOB: I passed your idea on to Mr Jaz, and he said "Mmfrgrmm mhhmm," (he had a mouthful of egg salad sandwich at the time. but I got the impression he thought it was a good idea). Yes, importers are undoubtedly going to be importing the NEC TurboExpress as soon as it comes out, but price I don't know about.

GANG BANG

Dear YOB,

Could you please tell me, can you buy that totally radical game "Gang Wars" for any computer or console? If not, will it be out soon? Also, I have a design for the crappiest game ever. You have a street in front of you, and what you have to do is walk down to the end of the street by pushing forward on the joystick.

Alex Robertson, Knutsworth, Cheshire

YOB: First - no. Second possibly. Third - it certainly is the crappiest game ever. On second thoughts, have you ever played Chubby Gristle?

ANY GOOD ON AMSTRAD?

Dear YOB.

Are there any good Super Sprint-type games around on the Amstrad? Hot Rod sounds great, but only got 70% on the Amiga. How would you rate it? Super Cars sounds great as well, but all I've seen of it is an advert. Is it any good on the Amstrad? I really like car racing games. Oh, yes, is Untouchables any good on the Amstrad? The Magnum sounds good as well. I don't know what to get, because there are so many good games around, and I can only afford one.

Nick Wright, Portishead, Bristol

YOB: Super Stock Car isn't bad, and that's a supercheap Mastertronic budget game. So that solves your money problems, doesn't it? If you want something really good, though, wait for Off-Road Racer. It's the

EUROVISION SPELLING CONTEST

Dear YOB,

This is again one of those days. I am just sitting in my room and the only thing I am doing is reading all (a lot) old thorn magazines availebell in a range of 3 meters.

I was reading all the mailbag sections and thought why not, and here's my letter.

I'm reading your magazine for about four years now just because I liked it and look what happend my English began to improof and I am one of the best in my class.

When I first bought your magazine I only red the parts I liked but now I read everything so many times that if you would see the state my magazines are in now you woulden't recordnice them your self I simply love your magazine and I'm not going to complain about what I don't like because other people might like that part of your magazine.

I think there's something in it for everybody.

What really hurts me is to see people talking about their computer in the way of: look I own this and that is best and I hate all the others. Every place in the world where ever you almost always meet voilence, shouldent be expended with your fabulous magazine. So people please and I mean PLEASE wise up. LR Liefthof, Amsterdam, The Netherlands

PS Rignall is an ace reviewer the best I have ever seen for the rest of the bunch; you're not doing bad

YOB: Rignall says he works only for C+VG, and

SPANISH FLY IN THE OINT-MENT

Dear YOB, I'm a Spanish reader of C+VG who is writing to tell you how the mags in my country are. Just take a look at this...

A magazine called Micromania published this news last June: "Do you know that...the Japanese firm Dev-Tek is going to sell a contraption that you can plug into the Amiga and that will let you convert the Amiga software into Megadrive cartridges. For the moment, this marvellous machine will only be seen in England, because the Megadrive is not available in our country." No comment...

I'd also like to tell you something really incredible.

On April 27th, my country's cabinet decided to pass a law called "Regulation of Coin-Ops", which contains an article that FORBIDS COIN-OP DEVELOPERS TO MAKE VI-OLENT ARCADE MA-CHINES! And they are thinking about forbid it also to computer game developers!! Yes, it's absolutely true!! What do you think about my country, English people? Antonio Lou, Barcelona. Spain YOB: Ha! Micromania those bullfighting buffoons! Still, eh? Takes all sorts doesn't it? What do we English people think of your country? Nice beaches, but the food's a bit greasy, and if you're subject to a dodgy tummy, I recommend you stay away from the octopus soup. The airports are wellequipped, but expect long delays during those busy summer months.

is definitely not an ACE reviewer. Mind you, judging from your excellent command of English, you could be. By the way, what are Thorn magazines? They sound very exciting.

BEST LEFT UNANSWERED

Dear YOB, Here's a few questions for you to answer.

1) Has your magazine ever reviewed Hang On, Psycho Fox or Kenseiden for the Sega Master System? If so, what were the results?

2) I've recently sent away for a game (Golden Axe) from an advert in your magazine (Key Software). If I don't receive the game, what can I do about it?

3) Which system do you think is the best - the Nintendo Entertainment System or the Sega Master System?

4) In Australia, we don't have things like the Sega Megadrive. Is the Megadrive similar to the Sega Genesis? Thanks a lot for answering my questions. Daniel Whyte, Elizabeth, S. Australia, Down Under PS Now that you've answered the questions, I can tell you what I think of you. Every time I see your name, I want to spew. Why don't you show a picture of yourself, or are you too gutless? I bet you're a crappy old fart who gets his jollies out of picking on little kids. I think YOB stands for Yellow Old Basketcase.

YOB: Ha, well just for that I won't answer any of your questions you dopey dingo! And seeing as you mention it, I do enjoy picking on little kids - just like you, in fact.

PURE CRAP VOL II

Dear Mr YOB (what the hell does it stand for?), I would like to congratulate Graham Edwards and pal on his witty, charming and somewhat sophisticated game design (the one about Vincent Skipper in issue 103). Could he please write "Pure Crap Vol II" (not meant sarcastically).

Andy, Bridlington (you know. the bit that sticks out of Scarborough)

YOB: Why should Graham have to write that when you've already done it?

RAINBOW ISLANDS

Here's a gem (groan) of a tip from Wayland Standing of Aberdeenshire for infinite lives. Simply select 3 credits on the starting screen, hold down Q, W, E, T and Y and press fire at the same time!

ALL FORMATS DAMOCLES

Adrian King of East Devon has obviously been hard at work, because he's sent in a complete solution for Novagen's long-awaited Damocles.

Firstly, do as the President says, and go to the room at the end of the corridor on the second floor. Answer OK to the question, and go back down to the basement. Get the key, and go back to your ship.

Fly to 09-02 Capital City, and you will find a lift. Go to the basement and pick up the antigrav. Return to your ship and fly to 12-14 Capital City, and pick up the A to Z computer. Switch it on (it will constantly tell you your location).

AMIGA KICK OFF 2

After much madness over Anco's totally amazing footy game, Martin Calladine of Reading has sent in these nifty tips.

SCORING GOALS

There are several methods

•Run at the goal just off centre a curl a low shot in.

 Do a big curling chip (from just over the half way line), and charge the shot through the keeper.

 Run at the keeper diagonally, and shoot using a little aftertouch. This will result in either a goal or a rebound.

PENALTIES

As in Kick Off, you just tap the fire button as the arrow approaches the centre of the goal. Holding it down for too long will result in the ball flying over the bar. Saving penalties against the computer can be done, but requires a bit of fiddling about. As soon as the ball is kicked, press R (action replay). Just before the replay, you will get a glimpse of which way the ball is going. Now hit S (slow motion), until the replay runs up to the penalty. If you watched carefully, you will know which way the ball is going, and as the re-

Fly to Key West, and then to location 07-07. Enter the building and go down to the basement. Here you will find another antigrav. Collect it, and go to a trading post. Sell one of the antigravs (the other will allow you to pick up spacecraft, cars etc).

From here, go to Snow Island, location 03-00. Here you should collect the clipboard and the cupboard (which is actually a trigger for the Novabomb). Go on to Bare Island, location 06-02. Make sure you take your ship into the building with you. Drop the cupboard on the ground floor. Here there are teleporters marked 0-9. Go to 0, where the computer will inform you that you're in the professor's new house. In one of the rooms, you will find a sideboard (another trigger).

Take this back to teleporter 1 and leave it there. Go through the teleporters until the computer tells you that you're in the Vesta Parliament. Take a lift to the top floor, where you'll find a briefcase (this allows you to carry more objects). Go back to the basement and use teleporter 6, leave the building and go back to your ship.

Fly to 05-06 and buy the hi-fi (the next trigger). Leave the island and fly to 09-02 UR City. From here, enter the building and go to the basement. Ignore the piano, and go around to the back of the lift where you will find the Novahomb

Now fly back to 08-08
Chaldea Metropolis (use the computer to find it). From here, take the bomb and the triggers back to teleporter 1. Set all three triggers to ON. Use the teleporter and go to Metis. On arrival, the A to Z will tell you you're in Doobury's Solicitors. Don't go to floor 8, or you'll be sued and lose all your money. Leave the building and head down the road on your left.

At the end of the road is a court. Enter, and walk straight across the room and into the wall. The wall will then open, revealing the last trigger. DO NOT TURN IT ON. Leave the court and fly into space. Land on Damocles, and drop the bomb. Leave Damocles, and fly away (be careful of the amount of time). When you're far enough from the comet, engage the last trigger, and goodbye Damocles!

There are, of course, four other ways of completing the game - can anyone else do them? If so, write in to Playmasters - there's a special prize on offer for the best entry.

VENDETTA

Here it is, folks, the solution to the first two levels of System 3's rather swanky game of vengeance, and all courtesy of Andrew Kyprian of Westcliff-on-Sea.

LEVEL 1: THE DOCKS

As soon as you are able, ready your knife and kill the guard. Pick up the wire-cutters from the crate near the middle of the screen (approach it from the left). Kick the screen, and enter with your knife ready. Kill the guard, and walk up to the crate with a fine shadow in front of it. Collect three grenades, and move right to another crate. Move down a fraction and collect the machine gun. Go to the wall with the pipe on it, go down to the crate in the corner and pick up the ammo clip (this replenishes all ammo should you run out). Leave the room, and kill the guard. Select grenades, and move right. Throw a grenade, this will blow the guard to pieces. Enter the next screen, kill the guard there, go up the stairs, and kick down the door. At this point, arm the machine gun. Enter the room, waste the guard, and grab the book from the furthest filing cabinet away from you. Get the floppy disk by kneeling in front of the disk drive, and get the red video from the front of the desk with the seat. Enter the next room, and blow away the guard with the machine gun. Get the log-book from the filing cabinet, and the blue video from the side of the desk which has no computer on it. Select the logbook. Go up in front of the computer, press fire, and the log-on code will appear. Write this down, as it changes each time you play. Select the floppy disk, go to the front of the computer again, and press fire. Type in the log-on code, and you will receive some kind of book. Select the down the door at the top of machine gun and enter the next room. Get the Uzi which is in the crate to the left of the radio. Enter the next room, and kill another guard. Go round the back of the table with two chairs by it, and get the car keys. Go to the nearest grey ammo-box, and replenish the guns. Enter the next room, kill the guard (that's a lot of dead quards, y'know!) and search the pillow on the right side of the bed. Take the necklace, and make your way out of the building. Go down the stairs, and shoot the guard there. Make sure you get him before he gets you! Go to the right-hand side of the crate near the two drums. Kneel down and collect the bulletproof vest. Select the key, walk as near as you can to the car tyre on the right (facing north-west), and select pick up mode. The door should now open.

LEVEL 2

Just keep blowing away cars, copters and bikes using F1 to select ground-to-air missiles, and F3 for machine guns. Always hit full speed, then slow down at corners. When the cop pulls you up and asks for evidence, move the joystick up to select the necklace, then press fire.

We'll print the rest of the solution next month. Until then, best o' luck.

SPECTRUM

CASTLE MASTER

That London lad, Alal Mlatt, has sent in this rather handy tip for that rather natty Freescape thriller. If you can't be bothered to walk all the way up to a door to go through it, simply fire at it, and you'll end up on the other side. Cheers, Alal.

MAN UTD

James Bell from Berkshire has come across a nifty little cheat that freezes the opposition in their tracks in oneplayer mode. All you have to do is press 0! Simple, eh?

PC ENGINE

CHAN AND CHAN

On the second part of level 3-3, after the first door, stand on top of the two destructible blocks (this is done by waiting for the leaping rats and jumping on one. With luck, you'll rebound onto the blocks), and jump off the top of the screen. You will now be teleported to the final level, 6-4. Thanks to J Bailes of Kennilworth for that.

BLOODYWOLF

This cheat comes all the way from Hong Kong, courtesy of Christopher Maier. On the title screen, press DOWN, UP, LEFT, LEFT, BUTTON 2, BUTTON 2, BUTTON 1, SELECT. The number 3 should appear on the screen. Start the game and you'll now be able to fly!

GAME BOY

SUPER MARIO LAND

Michael Gott from Stockport has generously sent in the locations for all 15 secret rooms in this totally sponditious game:

WORLD 1-1: Pipes 3 and 6 WORLD 1-3: Pipe 9

WORLD 2-1: First and last pipes

WORLD 2-2: First and last pipes

WORLD 3-1: First and last pipes

WORLD 3-2: Pipe 7 WORLD 3-3: Pipe 4

WORLD 4-1: Pipes 1 and 34 (just before the stack of WORLD 4-2: Pipes 2 and 12 (use your gun to collect all the gems)

MEGADRIVE

Hold the down arrow on the main title screen, and press START for a super-fast game. A heart will appear next to the level number to confirm this. Thanks again to Michael Gott of Stockport for that one.

THUNDER-FORCE III

This is one absolutely amazing shoot 'em up, and flippin' difficult, too. John McIntyre of Manchester has discovered a little sidestep which allows you to mess around with the game's parameters. Simply press buttons A, B and C and the START button, and away you go!

DJ BOY

I'm not going to make any naff jokes about getting your skates on, but Tim Bullock from Stoke-on-Trent has sent in some tips on how to dispose of the end of level baddies.

LEVEL 1: BIG BERTHA

She can be defeated by using flying kicks (back off after every attempt). Also watch out for her beefy bot!

LEVEL 2: THE POSER

This Paul Glancey lookalike is taken out the same way as Big Bertha, but don't get too close-his low kicks are lethal!

LEVEL 3: THE CLOWNS

These are the hardest of the lot. Destroy them by getting in close and punching. Watch out, because their punches are more powerful than yours. Once these are disposed of, two heads will appear and chase you around the screen. Jump about as far away from them as possible, as they will explode (otherwise you'll lose a lot of energy). Lots of little heads will appear, so do the same.

LEVEL 4: DJ KID

There's something your mother didn't tell you - you've got a brother! Well, he looks like you, and can do everything you can. Wait until his back is turned, skate up behind him, and side kick him. Also use the flying kick as much as possible.

LEVEL 5

Here you will encounter all four previous baddies, so use the right techniques for each.

LEVEL 5: PART II -FIRE EATER

Just use the same tactics as on Big Bertha and the Poser.

LEVEL 6: KUNG-FU KATE

Like most of the guardians, she can be defeated with flying kicks. Get in close, and punch and kick. Watch out for her flying kicks and back fists!

Now sit back and watch the end of game sequence!

AFTER BURNER

S Cousins of Cambs has thrown this rather nifty cheat in, which gives allows you to select your starting level from 1 to 20! All you have to do is hold down buttons A, B and C when the aircraft carrier appears, and Bob's your auntie. Cheers, S, and keep on flying!

▲ Just hanging about (groan).

hen bored ex-Vietnam war hero Bret Conrad inherits an ancient map revealing the location of priceless Aztec gold, his curiosity gets the better of him and he decides to see whether he can actually find the horde.

The five-level arcade adventure starts deep in the heart of the South American jungle and Bret instantly runs into trouble in the form of spear-throwing, arrow-shooting Pygmies. Fortunately firearms technology is on his side and he can dispatch the baddies with his Browning Hi-Power pistol. A few screens further on things start getting even more dangerous, with carnivorous plants, collapsing bridges and a very nasty panther to avoid.

The object on level one is to reach the entrance to the underground labyrinth, where the following four levels are set. There, even more danger lurks in the form of giant demons, killer bats, huge crocodiles and all manner of fiendish traps. But at the end there lies untold riches which could all be Bret's - as long as he plays his cards right!

UPDATE

Amiga and PC versions are out very soon, the former sporting better sound and graphics than the ST, and the latter version looking very similar in VGA mode. Other graphics cards are supported, but it obviously doesn't look quite so good.

ST £19.99

From the very beginning this is a hard game, and there are certain situations that seem almost impossible to get out of. However, each screen is almost like a puzzle, and you've got to work out when to jump, roll, grab the ropes, shoot or whatever. The gameplay is nicely balanced, so that you seem to get a couple of screens further with every game, and as a consequence you keep on coming back for more just to see what lies around the next corner. The graphics are truly outstanding - Bret is brilliant in the way he strides manfully along, and some of the creatures are superb. particularly the panther, the huge elephant (what's that doing in South America? Escaped from a zoo I suppose) and the incredible giant stone demon on level four, which is a real stunner (and pretty nasty, too just watch what it does to the sacrificial victim!). Gold of the Aztecs is a demanding game which'll have you tearing your hair out in frustration, but it's addictive and rewarding enough to keep you coming back for more. Give it a go if you're after a chal-

It all seems so easy, but can you beat the micro or your partner, at this hideously mind boggling game.

Addiction!...that's the name of the game. The concept is simple ...destroying blocks! But once you've got control of those bricks will you ever let go?

Special blocks will give you extra lives... GREAT!... but believe me, you'll need to take every advantage of this software's hardware! You'll need the skill of a Rubi-Cube master and the reflexes of a pigeon at a skeet shoot! Plot your move, take aim and block 'em out!... It's that simple... as simple as grilling ice cubes!

adies and gentlemen, I'm sorry to report that there has been... a MURDER (gasp). Actually, there's been nearly 3 million of 'em (flippin' heck!), and guess who s got to solve them? Yep, you, and you've only got two hours to do each one, before Scotland Yard turn up and take over.

You can select which murder to solve by picking a date between 1914 and 1945, the name and type of the location, and the difficulty level. You can also fiddle with the appearance of your detective alter-ego, and this determines your sleuth's name.

Once into the game (after finding out who's been bumped off and how) you get to search the house, investigating objects, checking for fingerprints, questioning the suspects, and make notes to build up concrete, convicting evidence. But you'd better hurry, 'cos time is running out, and Scotland Yard's getling ever nearer...

UPDATE

Murder will be out soon on ST, PC and C64, so all you amateur dicks better start brushing up on your sleuthing skills.

AMIGA £24.99

Murder is the sort of game that takes a little bit of lateral thinking, a touch of intuition and a whole lot of skill to play. It's all too easy to point the finger at the wrong person, but think like a detective and you'll find yourself getting more and more into the thick of things, and the excellent monochrome graphics lend the game that essential period atmosphere. Interrogating each and every person about where they've been and what they've been up to unveils some pretty interesting info (some of the relationships that crop up are scandalous, to say the least!). There are also lots of little touches, such as the ability to change the appearance of your sleuth (I'm sure one looks like the great Hercule Poirot), and these add to the game no end. Overall, a top-notch product, and with three million levels, one that can be played again and again.

PLOTTING

BY OCEAN

This conversion of a little-known Taito coin-op puts you in control of a small orange blob-like thing, which has the amazing ability of hurling blocks about. But these aren't just ordinary blocks, mind you, because these all have little symbols on them. How exciting!

The aim of the game is to destroy a pile of said blocks by hurling another block with a particular symbol against blocks of the same "denomination". Once this happens, the blocks disappear, and in return, you get the last block to be hit. If there's no block (what a load of blocks - Ed) that can be returned, this counts as a miss. Three misses, and it's game over.

If you want, you can choose to play a split-screen two player game (with player one on the left, and player two on the right), or play in challenge mode. This is the same as the normal game played in a variable time limit, but if three or four blocks are disposed of, they appear on the other player's pile! Plotting also has a construction kit, with which you can create your own fiendish setups, then save them to disk for future use.

UPDATE

Sorry, but all you 8 bit owners out there are going to have to go without, as Ocean have no plans at all to release Plotting for your machines.

C+VG LIIII ▲ Build your own levels with the construction kit.

AMIGA £24.99

Apart from slight colour and sound differences, Amiga Plotting is exactly the same as its ST counterpart, and just as much fun. Grab it at the first opportunity.

ST £19.99

I confess to never having seen this game in the arcades, but I wish I had. For such a remarkably simple idea, Plotting is one of the most fiendishly addictive games I've played in many a moon. Throwing blocks doesn't sound like a gripping game idea, but, like Tetris. simple ideas usually work out to be the best. After the first few levels, the gameplay grabs you by the scruff of the neck, and refuses to let go. The two player mode adds more to the game, and in challenge mode, things go from good to hysterical. Just when you think you've cleared a screen, the other player throws a few more blocks on your side of the screen! The graphics are small and cute (the blob bouncing with glee when a screen is cleared is a really nice touch), and the sound fits things nicely. Plotting has that spark of originality that makes it refreshing to play, and well worth paying good money for.

arty McFly, having travelled back to 1955 in Doc Brown's DeLorean time machine, has now been whisked into the future with his airlfriend Jennifer to sort out their kids. Confused? You will be.

Once there, Marty buys a sports almanac, giving the results for every event from 1950 to 2000, with which he plans to make big bucks back in 1985. Doc finds out, and talks him of changing his dessteals both the almanac and the DeLorean, and jumps back to 1955. There, he gives the book to his younger self, to set himself up in 2015. So Marty is now in a race against time to destroy the book and return everything to normal.

The game is split into five levels, each representing separate parts of the film. Level one is set in 2015, with Marty hoverboarding through the streets of Hill Valley towards the Town Hall.

Level two is a logic puzzle. Jennifer, having been found by the police, has been taken to her future home. Viewed from above, you have to help Jennifer escape. without bumping into any of the computer-controlled occupants.

Level three features Marty in a drastically altered 1985. Moving from left to right along a horizontally-scrolling screen, you've got to make your way to the DeLorean without being beaten up!

nifer in level two.

Level four is back in 1955, and is a sliding-block puzzle. You have to rearrange the scene from the Enchantment under the Sea dance within a set time limit. From there, it's onto level five, and back onto the hoverboard. Biff's got the almanac, and you've got to chase him around Hill Valley, until you can lay your hands on the book, dispose of it, and set everything to rights.

£19.99

As a great fan of all three movies, I had high hopes for Back to the Future II. But after playing the game, I feel disappointed. The intro sequence with the DeLorean blasting off into the sky is a nice idea, but poorly executed (the car jerks along like a slug with bunions). Once into the game, things don't really pick up. The hoverboarding levels are alright, but the logic puzzles just don't fit in. Why not use other parts of the film, like flying the De-Lorean in 2015, or being chased through Biff's Treasure Palace in 1985? The graphics are rough but adequate, and the characters look somewhat like their movie counterparts (with the exception of Marty, who could be anybody). Sound is a ho-hum rendition of the theme tune, along with so-so spot effects (what, no samples?), but it's the playability that's lacking. The hoverboard levels start to drag after a while, and sorting out sliding block puzzles gets more and more tedious with each play. BTTF II isn't a total disaster, but you do get the feeling that a lot more could have been made from it.

All is silent in the Matrix.

As your simulated Surface Reconnaissance Vehicle rolls over the glowing, computer-generated checker-board surface on its light-treads, you keep a keen eye out for hostile simulcraft.

Suddenly, a horseshoeshaped Recogniser surges upward from the void below the grid and spins to face you. With a low hum, a ball of light forms between its pincers and accelerates toward the SRV, slamming into its right flank and shunting it sideways.

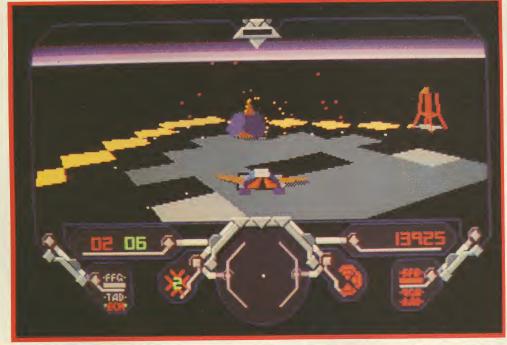

A red light on the panel before you indicates a power drain on the right shield. The treads blur as you spin your vehicle right, lining up the Recogniser's headpiece with the cannon sight. You release a rapid volley of six shots and in a blaze of light the Reco' disintegrates into its component polygons.

ST

Deciding that speed is the best defence in this matrix. you spread the SRV's wings and ignite the solid fuel booster. Your craft rises gracefully above the battlescape and you head off, searching for the rogue energy projectors which are transporting deadly computer-generated Simulcraft into the real world.

There are 30 matrices to conquer, all swarming with the computer's simulcraft - opponents fit to challenge the skills of even a champion Simulcra pilot like you. Luckily, your vehicle is specially designed for this type of battle, and most hostile craft yield to a few blasts from your energy cannon. Once destroyed, surface craft and structures, such as the laser towers, leave behind spinning polyhedrons which can be transformed into extra equipment for the SRV - radar scanners, speed-ups, fire-and-forget

To further protect itself, the computer has thrown up impassible energy barriers which can only be deactivated by destroying the energy projectors creating them. When all of a matrix's projectors are gone, the matrix breaks up and you're transported to the next in the set of five. #### UPDATE

An Amiga version is out as you read this, and as far as gameplay goes it will be identical, the only differences being spruced up graphics and sound. Price, as with the ST version, is £24.99.

ST £24.99

Well, what can I say? Another Graftgold release another title to add to the C+VG List Of All-Time Classics. Simulcra combines Battle Zone with Tron to produce a tremendous 3D shoot 'em up, the like and standard of which I've not seen in years. The graphics are absolutely superb - glittering explosions, swooping bombers, menacing helicopters sinister-looking tanks, and even the occasional Tron-ship (watch out for the mini Solar Sailors!). The bright, glowing colours look really beautiful against the empty blackness, too, and the objects are light-source-coloured with shadows to make them look that little bit more wonderful. Even when the screen is packed with polygons, the game still zips along, and the speed with which the landscape shifts around the SRV is astounding. The pace of the game makes playing it a totally dextral experience, and all your joystick skills will be called upon when you blunder onto a platform surrounded by six laser towers which promptly train their sights on you and begin blasting your shields off. The pickups and the flight mode build the basic blasting into something really special, and Simulcra is undoubtedly a game that will keep any ST owner awake way after bed time. Try it ick Off 2 rockets to the top of the chart, though, surprisingly, US Gold's footballing effort still pips it to the number one position. I wouldn't expect Italy 1990 to survive another month at that position, especially not now the World Cup is just a distant memory.

Blimey heck! Kick Off 2 takes the top spot of course, but what is really astounding is that Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles is at number 8 already - and it's only available on import from the USA!! They're going to have to invent new chart positions when Mirrorsoft release their UK Turtles game later in the year!

PG'S TIP FOR THE TOP

Next month's number one will either be Kick Off 2 again, or if the clairvoyant properties of my corns are anything to go by, the Turtles game.

ti

Alternative bring Last Ninja out of retirement to boot Fantasy World Dizzy down to eleventh place. I've a feeling Last Ninja could be the next chart-topping budget favourite, like Paperboy was a couple of months ago.

PG'S TIP FOR THE TOP

International 3D Tennis is still to make an appearance, but it wasn't in the shops for this chart so, erm, that might explain it. Mebbe next month, eh?

What did I say last month? Kick Off 2 straight to number one? And what's it done? And is it surprising? Of course not, so it wasn't much of a prediction. Sim City and Damocles are finally out and climbing, but I reckon KO2 will hog the top slot for a fair few months.

PG'S TIP FOR THE TOP

Well of course, Kick Off 2 is going to be at the top again next month, but Flood deserves to be up there somewhere.

The last remnants of World Cup fever are still clustered at the top of the chart, but wouldn't have thought they'd be there for much longer. None of the full price titles look like Number One position, so I guess next month's top positions will be taken by budget gear.

PG'S TIP FOR THE TOP

...And the budget gear I'm backing for number one is that nifty platform game they call Impossible Mission 2.

THE COMPETITION'S OVER AND HERE'S THE WINNER

Andreas Brehme scores the winner, World Cup Final, July 1990. MicroStyle introduce the winner, Autumn 1990.

Tackle hard for the ball, deep in your own half, and send an inch-perfect pass wide to the winger. As he takes on the full-back, you're sprinting down the middle, screaming for the return.

The ball swings across, high above the defence, as you stretch your legs to their limit. One bounce and you let fly with your boot as the goal looms before you, sending the ball fizzing towards the top corner...

International Soccer Challenge is viewed from the players' perspective at pitch level, giving you fast-flowing three-dimensional action that you control as you wish.

- Play in position as a goal-hungry striker, midfield general or unshakable defender, feeding off the passes of intelligent computer aided teammates.
- Dictate the whole pattern of play, utilising teamwork to perfection by controlling all eleven men.
- Take charge of intricate set-piece moves from throw-ins, corners and free-kicks.
- Play in the World Cup Finals or as a member of the top sixteen Club sides from around the globe. International football as it is played for real.
- International Soccer Challenge. It will make Gascoigne weep with joy, get Marradonna excited, and have Hullit tearing his hair out.

AVAILABLE SOON FOR YOUR COMMODORE AMIGA, ATARI ST AND IBM PC COMPATIBLES FROM ALL GOOD SOFTWARE STORES.

INTERNATIONAL SOCCER CHALLENGE FROM MICROSTYLE - IT'S A WHOLE DIFFERENT BALL GAME!

POWER DRIFT ACTIVISION SP

aving been around for the other machines for quite some time now, Sega's mega coin-op burns its way onto the PC, and the big question is - has it been worth the wait? Well, yes and no. Yes, if you have an 8Mhz+ machine with EGA graphics and a sound board, because then Power Drift is fast, looks good and sounds great (loads of digitised speech, already!). If you don't have that kind of setup you're in for a bit of a disappointment, because on lesser machines it's slow and jerky and the sound is an annoying cacophony of blips and buzzes. The game itself is fairly playable, though, if a little easy. Your buggy is easy enough to control, but flickers like crazy when you fall over the edge of the track, and all of the other cars look remarkably similar.

PC £29.99

A decent conversion but you need a mega expensive, top-of-the-range machine to really appreciate it, and the price is a major putoff.

KICK OFF 2 ANCO

All right, so England didn't win the World Cup but that didn't stop the C+VG First XI going absolutely bananas over KO2 on the Amiga. Now the greatest footy game ever has surfaced on the ST, and pretty dashed good it is too. While it's not as graphically polished as the Amiga (no advertising boards around the pitches, which all look the same - dark and light green strips), the ST version plays faster. Apart from that, though, all the features of the Amiga version are there (the kit design is more comprehensive on the ST, funnily enough). Kick Off 2 is the best football game ever to grace the ST, and if you don't believe me, I'll burst into tears (don't cry for me, Maradona!). Roll on 1994...

ST £19.99

What more can one say? If there's a footy game better than this, we want to know about it.

BLOODWYCHMIRRORSOFT

ime for another crystal hunt in Treihadwyl Tower, this time in the C64 version of Bloodwych. Guide your fourcreature party through many perilous levels, dealing death to hideous monsters, hunting for keys, spells, potions and weapons, then get the hell out before your tea gets cold. Slight graphical differences aside, this version is practically identical to all the other versions of this game. The command icon system is just as flexible, the two player mode works very well and the gameplay is engrossing and fun. The only quibble is with the joystick control which gets a bit tiresome when you have titchy icons to place your cursor on.

C64 £9.99

An atmospheric roleplayer with hours of exploring to get on with.

THE LOST PATROL OCEAN

cean's first attempt at the Cinemaware-style RPG with arcade action really has been lost - for about six months in fact. It puts you in command of a platoon of soldiers lost behind VietCong lines after a helicopter crash. As top man, it's up to you to get the boys across extremely hazardous country and back to HQ safe and sound while keeping their morale high. Enemy attacks are dealt with in nicely staged Op Wolfesque subgames, and when you run across a village you can either terrorize the inhabitants with automatic weapons or ask them nicely for information. Apart from these few high points there isn't a whole lot of excitement or tension to be had from this game, though. There are some beautiful scenery graphics, but by their third appearance you're counting the seconds until you get back to the game, but even that, for the most part, consists of watching a red marker track across a map. As with F-29 Retaliator, Lost Patrol's documentation (the piece of paper plus errata sheet) is unimpressive, and if Ocean want to compete with the likes of Cinemaware they really need to put a more substantial manual in the package.

AMIGA £29.99

Great to look at, but lacks the excitement and atmosphere to make it a completely gripping game.

SKI OR DIE ELECTRONIC ARTS

et your skis on, get down Gto Rodney's ski store and put your name down for the sassiest set of snow sports in history previously seen on PC only. Snowball blast is a sort of Operation Wolf, but you get to splat a field full of kids (and the occasional penguin) with snowballs. Acro Aerials is a crazy ski-jump stunt affair with eleven crazy twists and flips to try. Innertube Thrash is a sort of cut-down Toobin' in which you and a mate have to try to be the first to reach the other end of an ice chasm while trying to puncture your opponents toob. Skiing down (and off) cliffs is the idea of Downhill blitz, but any stunts you can manage bestow bonus points. Top fun.

though, is the Snowboard Half-Pipe, in which you snow-board down a trench, swinging from wall to wall, and performing unbelievable gyrations under the critical gaze of Rodney.

C64 DISK £14.99

Graphics aren't as good as you would have expected from a C64, and the music borders on "Dismal" (surely NOT Rob Hubbard!), but the gameplay is OK fun on the whole so Ski or Die is worth checking out.

ESCAPE FROM THE PLANET OF THE ROBOT MONSTERS DOMARK

ake Jake and Duke on a raid into alien robot factories, freeing human hostages while hunting for captive scientist, Sarah Bellum. One or two players can take part in this Amstrad conversion of the Tengen coin-op, which features most of the gameplay of the arcade original apart from the Cyber Sled section which, due to memory restrictions, is out. The playing area is quite small, and the screen flicks instead of scrolling, but the graphics are very colourful, and a lot of the touches, like the hangingon-by-your-fingernails bit, have been programmed in. The rotate-and-walk-forward control takes some getting used to, but at least it saves you from scrabbling around the keyboard because the smart bombs detonate when you pull down on the stick. Very playable, and a game that Amstrad arcade players should enjoy

AMSTRAD £9.99

THUNDER-STRIKE MILLENNIUM

t's the year 2238, and time once again for the Megacorp Industries Ground Defence Games. You, as the pilot of one of five types of ship, must fly around five 3D arenas, protecting your installations, blasting enemy generators and the ships they create. Sounds all good fun, yes? Well, PC Thunderstrike got a HIT! when it was reviewed back in the July issue, and I'm pleased to say

AMIGA £24.99

Ruddy good 3D flying blasting action all round, with a pretty inventive incentive (trying to keep the viewers happy)!

OVERALL 91%

ST £24.99

Apart from the obvious colour and sound differences, ST Thunderstrike is the same as on the Amiga. Rip-roaring stuff.

OVERALL 91%

that the ST and Amiga versions are just as good, if not that smidgen better. The feeling of real flight on both machines is exhilarating, although a little disconcerting (the chase camera is that bit slower than your ship and takes a second or two to catch up). The 3D actually works better on the ST, and runs that much faster than its Amiga counterpart. Graphics are fast, fluid and colorful, but sound is rather poor and sounds not unlike the PC, with white noise engines and blip-blip lasers. The playability, though, is what makes or breaks the game, and this has it in abundance. Once the rather difficult controls are overcome, it's blasting-a-go-go, and you'll really be in the thick of it. A brilliant shoot 'em up, and a game that you'll come back to again and again.

LAST NINJA 2 SYSTEM 3

he phrase "long-awaited" is applied to many a game, but never so much as to this one. Last Ninja 2 has been put back and delayed more times than anyone cares to mention. The question is, was the end result worth the wait? Well, quite frankly, no. Both ST and PC versions of LN2 aren't much of an improvement over the excellent but ageing C64 original, which is surprising, considering the potential. Graphics are bright, colourful, but somewhat grainy and poorly animated, and the screen update is slow and jerky. Sound on the ST is adequate, consisting of sampled thuds and screams and a rather annoying tune which burbles on during play, and the PC is limited to its usual bleeps. Movement of Armakuni (The Last Ninja himself) is difficult, but then again there are a lot of controls to fit in. Getting into the game without a decent map is hard to say the least (the one supplied ain't much cop), and it's absolutely soul-destroying to get so far into the game only to be killed off. LN2 isn't really bad, it's just that after all this time, you'd expect a heck of a lot better than this. If you desperately want Last Ninja 2, take a long, hard look before you part with that crinkly folding paper.

PC £24.99

Back with a vengeance? Back with a dull thud, more like. Similar to the ST in most respects, so the same complaints apply.

OVERALL 76%

ST £24.99

Best described as overhyped, overdue, and overpriced. Not really worth selling your nunchaku for, considering what could have been done.

SHADOW WARRIORS OCEAN

An Oriental demon has possessed the strength of the greatest Shadow Warrior, and has summoned forth an army of crazed psychos who are running riot around New York. You, as the last in a long line of legendary combatants, have got to stop them. Not much of a plot, we agree, but it's a good excuse to bash the heck out of loads of bad guys, and Shadow Warriors on the Amstrad gives you plenty of chances for that. The graphics are nice and bright, a bit blocky but really colourful, but the sound starts to grate after a while. Control is a bit difficult at first, but once you get used to it you can really start laying into some bloke who's well-deserving of a smack in the chops. The scrolling's a bit on the slow side, but you'll be so engrossed in trying to stay alive, you don't really notice. Overall, a veritable bundle of fightin', fumpin' fun all round, and well worth a look.

AMSTRAD £9.99

One of the best beat 'em ups to appear on the Amstrad in yonks, marred only by a niggling multiload. Recommended.

OVERALL 86%

STUNT CAR RACER MICROSTYLE

his has been kicking around for a while now on the other machines, and pretty dashed amazing it was too (the C64 version was just as nippy as the 16 bit versions). Now the Amstrad version is here, and it joins its cousins in the ranks of being flippin' brilliant. The graphics are mainly wire-frame 3D, but the sheer speed and feeling of whizzing around a track is astounding. Sound is adequate, with the engine buzz and sounds of the frame cracking when you hit the deck (an occurrence which happens all too often when travelling at full whack). Stunt Car Racer deserves to be at the top of your shopping list - just for sheer fun value alone, but also because it's still the best racing game going. Take it out for a spin, pronto.

AMSTRAD £9.99

Fast, frantic, and most importantly, fun. An absolute corker.

IMPOSSIBLE MISSION

KIXX

Othing to do with Peter Graves and that old Sixties telly series, but the exploits of Agent 4125 in his efforts to defeat the evil Elvin Atombender, who has set himself up in a multi-towered stronghold. 4125 has to leap around platforms, avoid marauding robots and search for numbers that make a code. Once the correct numbers are obtained, 4125 is allowed access to the next tower. Along the way, he has to bust into safes to record a short piece of music. Once all the music is collected, and recorded in the right order, 4125 can finally defeat Atombender once and for all.

James Bond, eat your heart out! Impossible Mission II is the best thing since the Lotus Esprit.

OVERALL 90%

As far as the game itself, IM II on the Spectrum is pretty good! The main character graphics are all black, but against the bright colourful backgrounds they work very well. The animation of 4125 is really good, and with the objective of playing against the clock, the action really hots up when time is running short. Impossible Mission was a classic in it's own right, and the sequel as a budget title deserves to do equally well. Grab it at the first opportunity.

MATCH DAY II

HIT SQUAD

Aggahhh! Not another football game! I can't take it any more! Anyway, Match Day II appeared a few years ago to rapturous reviews and accolades galore. Now it's back on budget, but has it really stood the test of time? Well, for the price, yes. Presentation, graphics and sound are fairly good, but the playability still stands up loud and proud.

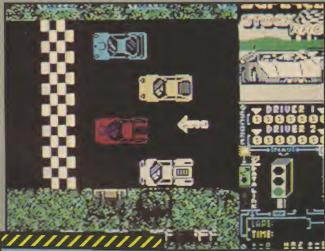

MD II has got a heck of a lot of functions, such as jumping, heading, volleying, and barging (loads of fun as you shoulder-charge a player off the ball). Power is measured using the kickometer, which ranges from a sneaky backheel to a full-blooded stinger. What with variable tactics and a two-player option as well, Match Day II for only £2.99 is a must-buy, but if anyone else sings "World in Motion", they'll be kicked into the back of the net!

MASTERTRONIC PLUS

You are Rick Radial (more like Richard Head), the meanest man on the stock car circuit. As one-time champ, you've got plenty of people willing to sponsor you, so you can choose from one of four of the meatiest sports cars going. After choosing your super lovely diamond motor, you have to race five laps around the track within the qualifying time. Winning means progression to the next track

Quite frankly, so what? Al right, the graphics are nice, the sound is ho-hum (buzz, buzz, buzz), but the gameplay is far too samey all the way through. The opportunity for banging (fnerk) up a Testarossa or a Lamborghini is fun, but everything seems to get rather boring after a while. If you want a racer, Super Stock Car ain't bad for the price, it's just a little repetitive, even with the addition of a course designer.

HONG KONG PHOOEY

HI-TEC

This old cartoon used to be on telly when I was but a mere sprogling, and featured a totally useless crime-fighting dog (?) and his sidekick cat, Spot (who usually pulled the moronic mutt out of a tight situation).

Now Hi-Tec has translated this ageing series onto computer, and quite frankly, the end result should have been left in the archives with the cartoon. The game itself is a beat 'em up, with Hong Kong moving around a jerky scrolling maze of platforms.

smacking seven piles out of his attackers. He has to hunt down Baron von Bankjob (no sniggering, please!), and slam him in the nick.

Energy is lost by contact with the bad guys, but replenished by picking up Kung Fu manuals and flasks. Control is, er, sluggish (understatement of the month), and graphics are jerky and poorly animated. Overall, a totally naff license, and not even worth the money as a budget beat 'em. Disappointing

NEMESIS

HIT SQUAD

The computer conversions of Konami's now-ageing coin-guzzler Nemesis received widespread acclaim when it was released several years ago, and it's getting a new lease of life with this budget re-release.

The aim of the game is pure and simple - fly from left to right and blast seven shades of shinty out of anything that moves, collect

OVERALL 87%

Alright, so Nemesis is starting to show it's age (it was released in 1987), but as a budget blast, it's dashed good value for money.

REVIEW

When Professor Pott's time machine is bombed by terrorists, the resulting warp hole created by the blast sends him back 10,000,000 years into the past. Using four time pods that he happened to be carrying at the time of the explosion, he must return to the future and stop the bomb from exploding.

Sounds straightforward enough, but it's not. The warp hole has upset five vital periods of time, and these must be fixed by the Prof before he can return to his own time.

Each era is made up of five flick screens, and the Prof must complete certain tasks in the each zone by picking up and dropping items in the correct places. so that he is able to move forward in time. For example, picking up boulders and putting them over three volcanoes in the Prehistoric time has the effect of cooling the earth and creating the Ice Age. But keeping the future intact means constantly returning to the past to keep natural forces from undoing your work.

The teleport pods let you go back to the future.

C+VG HIT!

Throughout history there are dangers to avoid, such as Yetis, marauding medieval soldiers, swamps and deep rivers which drain Prof's energy, ultimately leading to the loss of one of his three lives.

It's a tough job, but as we already know, getting back to the future is no easy task.

UPDATE

Spectrum, Amstrad and C64 versions are all available shortly. Obviously they won't look as nice as the 16 bit versions, but they'll play exactly the same, and that's what matters most.

ST £24.99

Looks and plays almost identically to the Amiga, and is therefore very highly recommended.

AMIGA £24.99

Vivid Images' first game, Hammerfist, was great, and I'm glad to say that their second is equally good. It's an odd sort of arcade adventure which involves getting your brain around some intriquing puzzles as you struggle to create five time zones. Some of the problems seem quite obscure at first, but once you get your mind attuned to the pro-grammer's devious way of thinking, you find yourself making headway. The graphics are very good indeed, with a great introduction sequence, some very colourful backdrops and nicely detailed sprites. Sound is also good, with decent tunes and spot effects adding to the game's appeal. If you're after a challenging and highly addictive arcade adventure, warp down to your local software shop and check out Time Machine.

COMP TIME! TIME COMP!

2500 WORTH OF HOLIDAY VOUCHERS UP FOR GRABS

Want a holiday? Well, here's your chance to win one, courtesy of those lovely Activision people. What's the reason for all this generality? Well, they're so pleased with Vivid Images. Time Machine, that they're giving away £500 of bavel vouchers to the lucky winner of this competition in way of celebration.

You can use these to go where you want, when you want! Fraily wicked stuff, yes? And that's not all, y'know. For the next ten runners-up will each receive a swish Time.

Machine watch, perfect for telling you which era you're in! And for the next 20 runners up, a copy of the game for your machine! Crikey!

Now that we've got you all gibbering like foonies, here's how to enter. On this page somewhere, there are four stunningly easy questions and on the subject of line travel. All you have to do is write the four mawers down and answer the following lie-break question in 20 words or 'ess:

Which year would you want to visit and why?

Scribble all this on the back of a postcard or sealed envelope (don't forget to jot down which machine you own), bung on a stamp and post it to:

I NEVER GET THE RUNS ON HOLIDAY SO LET ME WIN COMP, C. VG. PRIORY COURT, 30-32 FARRING DON LANE, LONDON ECTR 3AU.

Closing date is October 1st - so get your entries in before then.

- 1. Who wrote the original book. The Time Machine?
- 2. Who played the part of Dr Emmett Brown in the Back to the Future films?
- 3. What was the name of Doctor Who's time and space machine?
- 4. Who postulated the Theory of Relativity and stuff?

NOTE: For all of you that don't knew what 'postulation' means (like Rob), It means "thought up". So now you know.

ALIEN STORM

If you fancy a bit of alien bashing in a game of much death and destruction, Sega's latest three-player coin-guzzler should fit the bill perfectly.

The world has been invaded by an army of vile and disgusting aliens (and I mean REALLY disgusting) and the only people that can stop them are three part-time hot dog vendors, Gordon, Karla and Scooter, who just happen to have a variety of powerful alienblasting weapons in the back of their hot dog van.

The first stage is a horizontally scrolling affair set in an urban environment.
Aliens pop up from all angles and must be disposed of either by blasting them with your bazooka, or (if you're close enough) giving them a darn good punching and kicking.
Some of the aliens are disguised as things like telephone boxes, trash cans and mail boxes and suddenly metamorphose and leap out at you as you approach!

At the end of the level you enter a shop and take part in an Operation Wolf style shoot-out where aliens leap at you from behind shelves of food and you have to blast them down. Dispose of the big alien boss and you complete the level and move onto another scene, with the ultimate aim of entering the alien's space ship on level five and destroying the controlling mother brain to save the World!

Alien Storm is a thoroughly enjoyable mixture of shooting and bashing, and features some of the most blastable aliens seen since Alien Syndrome - shoot 'em and watch 'em splatter! Play it if you're a gore fan!

MOONWALKER

ot a game about Andrea baring her bumthis coin-op is based on the Moonwalker film, which stars super "Bad" pop person and part time pyrotechnic stuntman Michael Jackson.

The film was, to put it mildly, a load of old borrocks, but the game is surprisingly good, giving you control of "Whacko" Jacko himself as he goes on a mission to rescue his gang of twelve year old chums from the clutches of an evil underworld network, who've kidnapped them for use in washing powder experiments.

The action is displayed in forced perspective, rather like Escape from the Planet of the Robot Monsters, and Michael struts around the screen dishing out laser death to any bad-die who gets in his way. Aaaaw!

The graphics are excellent, and the sound (if you like Michael Jackson music) is superb, featuring sampled tunes from the Thriller and Bad albums. Even if you don't like Michael Jackson, give this game a go - it's a highly enjoyable coin-op which you might well find yourself becoming addicted to.

INTRODUCING

THE WORLD'S NUTTIEST SMALL SCREEN HERO IN HIS FIRST ARCADE ACTION CLASSIC

When the Professor is instructed to close down his five Laboratorys by The Lord Mayor or face being taken to the local Lunatic Asylum by Docter Headbender, you can see he needs your help. You must guide the Professor through over 100 screens avoiding Mutant Monsters and solving strange puzzles in your quest to save his sanity.

- Close down the chemical research, space rocket development, computer science and biological observation which will lead you to the end level, the mystery Laboratory.
- Use the tool vending machine to buy more powerful weapons with the coins you collect.
- Avoid walking floppy disks, caterpillar micro chips, spinning laboratory flasks, molecular sculptures, walking joysticks..... too many to list.
- By Shaun Hollingworth creator of many hit titles including 'Pac-mania'.

BONANZA BROTHERS

The bulk of coin-ops these days are rehashes of old ideas and concepts, so it's refreshing to see one that uses an original idea for once - like this one.

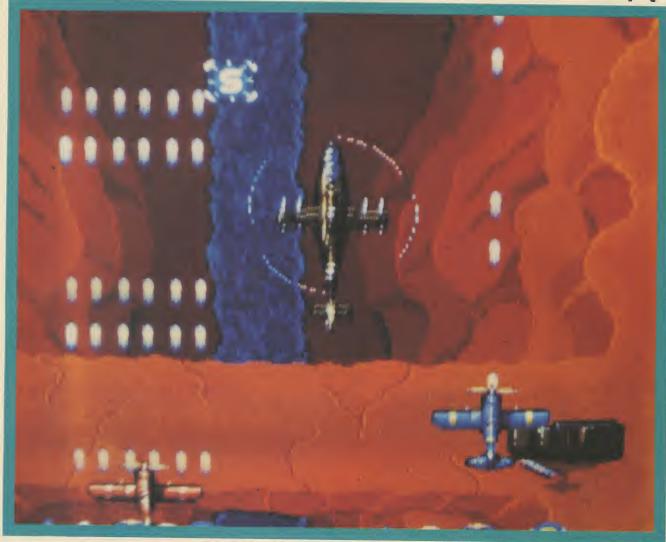

Bonanza Brothers is a graphically stunning split screen one or two player game in which you play the bad guys (hooray) on their way to appropriate as much cash as possible from a series of buildings like banks and casinos.

Security guards infest each place, and you must keep out of their way by hiding from them, rather than blowing them to pieces. This makes for an intriguing and rather nervewracking game of hide and seek. I really enjoyed playing this - it's a very different sort of game that taxes your brains rather than your reflexes. However, those obsessed with fast-paced action might find this too pedestrian to really get into. Still, try it out -you're only gambling 20p...

META FOX

Much aerial death dealin' is featured in Seta's one or two-player vertically scrolling shoot 'em up as you take to the skies in a plane and fly a solo mission deep into enemy territory.

Just to make you feel at home, there's a host of power-up weapons to grab and increase your destructive powers, and, of course, there's a big baddie to destroy at the end of every level (where would we be without 'em, eh?).

As I've said about a million times before, vertically scrolling shoot 'em up coinops are all becoming very boring and predictable indeed. There's been nothing new or innovative in this genre for years - and this is no exception, making about as much impact as a fart in a windstorm. Fly up the screen, blast the baddies, pick up the power ups and blow up the guardian, then move onto the next level where you do more of the same. Yawn! Seen it all before - and a lot better than this.

MACHINES :

▲ BOOM! That's the level one bad guy dealt with.

BY SEGA

riminals are running amok in Cyber City, and the citizens are no longer safe. Somebody needs to bring law and order to the place - and that somebody is ESWAT, a mega tough division of the Cyber Police who use robotic exo-skeleton suits to help them keep the peace.

Before you can actually join the ranks of ESWAT, you've first got to earn your stripes (and your super ESWAT armour) by completing two missions, which are set over multidirectionally scrolling cityscapes.

Dressed only in regulation police uniform and a bullet proof vest and packing a pistol, you must leap, run and jump your way around the landscape and dish out lead death to the many gun-toting criminals who try and stop you. A bar tells you how much energy you have - sustain more than four hits and you're a goner.

At the end of each level there's a guardian who must be destroyed. Get rid of the second one and you're given full ESWAT armour, which is capable of sustaining more hits and can also utilise the power-up weaponry that lies scattered across the landscape. The following six levels are basically similar to the previous two, only the criminals are much tougher and use all manner of weapons and robots to try and get you.

Remember, be careful out there.

PAUSE

▲ Mind your back.

Avoid the radioactive sludge!

MEGADRIVE £35.00

Basically, ESWAT is Super Shinobi with all sorts of mega guns and hulking great suits of cyber-armour. But even though it's not very original, it's one hell of a game. The sprites and backdrops are excellent, with brilliant parallax scrolling scenery, and all manner of beautifully animated baddies to blow into oblivion. The music is also great, with a variety of racing rock tunes and some meaty effects enhancing the atmosphere no end. The difficulty level is nicely balanced to draw you into the game, and it doesn't take long to get to level four, but from there on things get pretty tough, and it takes quite some practice to crack the remaining four levels. And even if you get through the game, there are a further three difficulty levels to challenge you, adding extra lasting appeal. If you're after a slick and highly playable arcade game, ESWAT is the one to go for.

MACHINES IN THE STATE OF THE ST

BY TAITO

The Dark One has trapped the Princess in a magic jar, and flown her off to his castle on the other side of Marry Land (sounds suspiciously like Mario Land to me - Ed). You (and a friend) control Jim and Bob, two chunky hammer-wielding dwarves, who must travel through 50 wild and wacky platform-filled levels set over five areas to get to her.

It ain't all that easy, however, because the Dark One's minions (you know the sort, pink monster bunnies, fire-breathing mushrooms, boomerang-throwing pixies) have gone on the rampage. These are easily dispatched by bonking (phwoar!) them on the head with your hammer, picking 'em up and smashing them against the nearest wall. The monsters will then turn into bonus point fruit.

DON-DOKO

Potions and magic hammers are scattered about, which turn your mallet into a flying hammer or give it instant smash power. There are also secret rooms, which contain jars which must be smashed in the right order to get a password.

At the end of every level lurks a giant bad guy, who'll do everything in his power to stop you. Get past him, and it s on to the next level, and that much nearer to your goal.

PC ENGINE £32.90

Straitjacket city! Don Doko Don is best described as Bubble Bobble with sledgehammers, and believe me, it 's weird. Okay, there's nothing new or original about it, but right from the intro (with flying pigs!) DDD is playable to the max. Smashing the oh-so-cute monsters (or the other player!) over the head is comical enough, but picking them up and hurling them against a wall is great fun. The graphics are sweeter than a sack of saccharin, and really colourful to boot. Sound is all cutesy squeaks and pings, and the little ditty that plays in the background fits the bill perfectly. The end of level guardians (you can't exactly call them nasties, they're so cute) are weird in the extreme, such as multi-headed pumpkins and giant teddies! If you like platform games, get it at once. If you don't, have a look anyway - you'll soon be hooked!

UPDATE

Super Monaco GP is also scheduled to be released on the Megadrive - only that version will be a true conversion of the coinop. We'll be reviewing it as soon as our copy arrives from Japan.

Although this latest Master System game bears the same name as Sega's splendid racing coin-op, the similarities are virtually non-existent! Instead of it being a Grand Prix simulation based around the famous Monaco street circuit, it's a one or simultaneous two-player racing game where the drivers get the chance to compete in a series of Grand Prix races.

At the start of the game there are a series of options which let you choose one or two players, and the type of game - VS Battle, a one to nine lap series of races where two players race one another or a single player challenges the computer driver, or Grand Prix, a series of races where you challenge an opponent and a whole field of computer cars.

Once you've chosen the type of game you can pick a car from a choice of four. Select automatic, 3, 5 or 7 speed gearbox, then adjust the suspension and front ailerons for maximum grip.

During the game a split screen display is used to show both players' cars, and there's also a radar map of the entire course showing where both players are. As you overtake the opposition, a number appears above your car to reveal your current placing.

Points are awarded at the end of the race to top-placed drivers - the aim is simply to be the highest scorer at the end of the season.

SEGA £29.99

When I discovered that this wasn't a conversion of the Super Monaco GP arcade machine I must confess to being rather disappointed. However, after playing it a couple of times I soon realised that this is a very good racing game indeed - in fact the best yet seen on the Sega! The cars are tricky to drive at first and seem to spin off at every corner, but once you find the suspension and aileron settings that suit your driving style it becomes a very skillful game of braking into a corner and powering out through the bend (making sure you don't hit any other cars in the process). The twoplayer mode is obviously where this game scores highest - it's very competitive, especially when you're racing against an entire field of other cars. But even on your own the game is immense fun, since the computer driver is no dummy and provides an even more formidable opponent than your average human! Super Monaco GP is an excellent racing game with tremendous lasting appeal, and is an absolute must for your games collection.

lex Kidd is back. The thing is, though, he's not just your ordinary big eared leapin', punctin' sort of hero. This time tie's. a ningal.

The problem is that his girl has been kidnapped by the evil Dark Ninja (boot). However, the Guardian of Light, who defeated the dark one 10,900 years ago, has bestowed Alex with the powers of Ninjitsu. So off he sets, sword in hand, to travel through Shinobi World, and dish out some seriously heavy punishment to the stars.

Shinobi World is split up into four levels, each consisting of three sub-levels which are all guarded by a big, bad, boss-monster. Destroy this guy and you move onto the next level. Fail, however, and your girl's sushi.

Slash the bricks to get

SEGA £29.99

This game is brill! A combination of Alex Kidd in Miracle World and Shinobi (both really good Sega carts) doesn't exactly bode well for a chopsocky action game, but Shinobi World works really well. The game itself has almost all the features of Shinobi (the guys with the guns, the fat sword-throwers and the Spiderman-type ninjas are all in there), and all the cuteness of Miracle World. Graphics are bright, colourful and clear, and the sound is almost the same as the original Shinobi. I say almost, because it has that softer edge to it that you'd expect from a game of this type. Playability rates really high as well, as the game is just right at the gressively more difficult as you go along, but not so tricky as to drive you away. A great game all round - if you like Alex Kidd, you'll love this.

If I had a penny for every time a Ghostbusters review started with "who ya gonna call?", I'd have enough to buy an extra Mars Bar at lunchtime by now. Luckily, this is a quality magazine, and I wouldn't seek to insult your intelligence with such a cliched opening.

Anyway, phantoms are causing panic in the city of New York, so who you gonna call? (KER-CHING!) Why, the Ghostbusters of course. Those three way-out, wacky "spook-cops" are here to clean up the city, and make a lot of money along the way.

Controlling either Peter Venkman, Ray Stantz or Egon Spengler, you've got to travel from house to house blasting ghouls and avoiding traps. The action is seen sideon, with the 'buster of your choice jumping along platforms and avoiding holes in the floor.

Each character is equipped with a positron gun which he can shoot in all directions, making it easier to fry the ghosts that fly overhead. Blowing away a ghost puts money in your account, and this can be spent on upgrading your weapon from a measly single shot pop-gun to a whopping great proton cannon. The money can also be used to buy food (to replace lost energy), infra-red goggles, bombs (handy for wiping out big ghosts) and protective shields.

Each house contains a certain number of 'middle ghosts', which have to be disposed of by blasting away until only a wimpy green slimer is left. This has to be caught with the proton beam, and dragged into the trap, which sucks the the ghost in. Take too long, however, and the spook escapes. Once these have been dealt with, vou move on to the end-oflevel ghoulie, which can be anything from a green spherelike spectre, to Mr. Stay-Puft, the Marshmallow Man!

▲ Could do with some extra weapons!

▲ Beware the swinging Ice Beast of Death!

MEGADRIVE £35.00

If you were expecting it to be a straight conversion of the Master System Ghostbusters, you'll be surprised to find that the Megadrive game is completely different, with much more action of the "jump-and-blast" variety. The graphics are really good (each 'buster looks like his movie counterpart) and the in-game music is nice, if a little inappropriate. The title music is a major let-down, though because, rather than put the 10-channel stereo to work and make a really funky version of the Ray Parker Jr soundtrack, it sounds all tinkly and flat. The game itself is a bit of a killer, too. Even on the easy level, it's blimmin' hard work just to trying to knock out the middle ghosts, so it's not the easiest game to get into! Strangely enough, however, Ghostbusters has a supernatural addictive quality about it that grabs you and keeps you stuck to your screen for quite some time. Definitely worth putting on the shopping list.

OFF-ROAD RACER VIRGIN/MASTERTRONIC

The excellent threeplayer Super Sprint-style coin-op, Ivan "Ironman" Stewart's Off-road Racer, is about to hit your screens. All versions are being programmed by Graftgold (who brought you the amazing conversions of Rainbow Islands) and they're making each version as accurate as possible.

Amiga, PC and ST ver- RELEASE: AMIGA ST sions are absolutely identical to the arcade machine (check out those screen shots) and all feature three-player modes. The C64 version obviously isn't as good graphically, but sports 16 bit gameplay and also a three-player game. Amstrad and Spectrum versions are two-player only, but again the gameplay is extremely polished.

We'll be reviewing the game next month - out breath is baited.

LEGEND OF BILLY BOULDER US GOLD

Strange name for a strange game. It's set in Flintstone-esque Prehistoric times and stars you as the eponymous Billy Boulder, who's on a mission to find Xor, an old crusty Wizard who holds the secret potion which will cure the sick Princess.

This involves trolling around a vast land-scape, beating up everyone you see, solving puzzles and searching a series of large cities for items to help you complete the quest.

The graphics are quite jolly, but as to how it plays, you'll just have to wait until next month when we'll be reviewing it
